

So, Who's Running the Show?

A different face on the same hijacked party?
Effects of the “woke mind virus”?
A case of wilful blindness?
All the above?

A friend recently posted on his Facebook wall raising concerns about the apparent orchestration of the current party's upcoming US election bid. He asked who is actually running the country because it's quite clear that it's not the puppets who have been taking centre stage.

I initially wrote the following as a comment on his wall but have elaborated here as an individual post/article.

Incidentally, the above friend used to support the current party but now finds himself asking serious questions...

Absolutely that whole party has been hijacked by cooperate elitists (a.k.a. Deep State) who have been using politicians as puppets and calling the shots from behind the scenes.

The doddery incumbent was a mere puppet and so is his replacement, only the new one has charisma and is therefore able to entice more people more easily, making for a much higher stakes game.

They have constantly treated their supporters and others as fools, repeatedly lying to them, saying the doddery incumbent was sharp and mentally capable, when he clearly hasn't been for years. Obviously, they continued to prop him up, so that they could keep using him as their preferred stage puppet, while embarrassing the entire nation in the process.

Clearly, the whole thing is a manufactured sideshow, orchestrated, strategically timed and rigged – a complete charade!

While others have genuinely been trying to uphold freedom of speech, the current regime's track record speaks for itself: they are about censorship and control. Important to judge by “actions” and “results” rather than the manufactured, sensationalised fronts or words!

They present themselves as being genuine while portraying others as perpetrators. In other words, they turn everything into complete reversals, so the opposite is usually true for everything they say – the behind the scenes manipulators are all about flipping reality as their political puppets play along in tune.

Then they go about public grooming en-masse, generating widespread social hysteria and projecting a sense of malice, hatred and animosity towards intended targets (or ousting and/or discrediting any other perceived competition) in an effort to cast them into social ostracization and ultimately gain overall control – that's how these manipulations work.

Albeit on a lesser scale, I've previously been on the receiving end of similar tactics, and the undermining effects are exactly the same. I've seen this beast before. The manipulators behind the scenes (and their puppets) gaslight everyone, rewriting the narrative and creating an alternative reality to fulfil ulterior agendas.

They weaponize their extreme ideologies, so that if anyone criticises, they get labelled as discriminant, sexist, racist, etc., which effectively sets up any critics for targeting as well.

The current regime have also weaponized the public legal system, bending the rules at will in an effort to suppress any competition. They will stop at nothing, including total annihilation of targets to gain full control.

As for their brainwashed subjects, no amount of evidence will suffice to convince them otherwise. Examples of this are apparent in the following Sky News report showing numerous deluded subjects in denial.

This link may help give some insight into how some of these manipulations work.

(full article pasted below)

Most surprising is that the current regime are so bad at staging their orchestrated, diabolical show, and their political puppets so strikingly incompetent, and yet there seems to be so many brainwashed sheep out there willing to buy into it, even in spite of the last four disastrous years!

Joe Rogan has expressed disbelief over how an election bid can be manufactured based on manipulation and deceit and how so many people have actually been buying into it. Suddenly transitioning from the least popular vice president of all time to lead candidate and the solution to all problems over night – just like that – ta da!

Another noteworthy characteristic of these manipulators is that they actively set about undermining the very things that they front as championing. It's all about undermining and control. Fortunately, some news sources aren't afraid to tell it how it is.

If ever finding yourself plundered into a state of confusion, cognitive dissonance or wilful blindness as a result of the mass manipulating, incited public hysteria and seduction, the best way to gain clarity and perspective is to simply compare the end (evidence based) results. How were things before and how are they now? And let that be your guide.

An eye opening interview between Elon Musk and Jordan Peterson looks at recent issues including the upcoming election, and how the current regime has actually been fuelling censorship and separatism to the contrary.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=x0uiD362T48>

Elon has vowed to destroy what has been coined the “woke mind virus.” The “mind virus” part referring to the mass public brainwashing. The “woke” part referring to the state of being awake to. Or, more specifically, within social context, it refers to the over sensitising and over accommodating of so-called social issues (some genuine others harmful) to such an extent, that it conversely causes separatism and insidiously undermines society to the contrary.

With his own child harmed as a result of the current untoward trends and extreme ideologies, as a form of protest, Elon has stated that he will be shifting his companies out of California.

Being the outstanding intellectual that he is, he can see right through the current regime's fiasco and has recently released this most amazing video exposing them for what they actually are.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wflHe8fqk4s>

It would have been taken down, only he had the foresight to acquire Twitter for the purpose of maintaining our freedom of speech, without having to run things by the so-called “fact checkers.”

Incidentally, these so-called “fact checkers” have only come into existence since the truth started getting out across modern-day internet. In fact, the very existence of these so-called “fact checkers,” effectively negates open discourse and the opportunity for people to think and make decisions for themselves. Sound a little too convenient?

It would seem the current regime has become so extreme that they have effectively been dragging the entire social scale leftward, and they have been doing so to such an extent that what used to be right has now become centre.

People may want to recall the current regime's legacy of forcing pharmaceutical interventions through disinformation, coercion, civil liberty restrictions and mass censorship.

While it was likely to fulfil ulterior agendas, they also shamelessly pulled out of Afghanistan leaving millions of dollars, military hardware and service personnel behind in a complete snub to the nation – a nation that pays them to represent and serve the people.

They've also been allowing the country to be constantly flooded with illegal immigrants, actively contributing to the erosion of the nation's sense of identity and sovereignty.

Incidentally, this has all been happening under the watchful eye of the lead candidate for replacement puppet, who despite having not been there a single time, has been in charge of the border, only now they are scrambling to smear this fact, among others, in the lead up to the election.

Another obvious stand out is the illegal drug crisis plaguing the nation, also fuelled by the above, along with increased crime.

Climate change is being weaponised to control people through fear. Quote from RFK: "Free markets are a better way to address climate change. Polluters make themselves rich by making the public pay for the damage they do. You show me a polluter, I'll show you a fat cat using political clout to escape the discipline of the free market."

Must watch video clip.

People need to start connecting the obvious dots of the designed, malicious intent, which has been reaching deeper and deeper into all corners of society, as those behind the scenes continue incubating and diligently feeding the "woke mind virus," with limitless funding, including hijacked public funds (taxpayer money), for their ulterior globalist and totalitarian agendas – all pumping manifest lies in concert.

The current Olympics has also been used as a medium to transmit the "woke mind virus," which has prompted Elon Musk to halt donations for the event.

The flow and availability of public information is also diligently contained, censored, filtered and channelled according to underlying agendas.

It is safe to say that any further "wilful blindness" will likely not serve the people well for another round. It's important to overcome any illusions of safety from remaining quiet on the issue with ongoing self-censorship and start to speak up. Go to the polls and vote – it's your country and your future!

Imagine what's to come, as they insidiously assume more and more control over cashflow through the induction of cashless systems etc. Be forewarned that opting to use cashless is the same as putting your head in the proverbial noose. Cash is freedom – use it or lose it!

Those who have been doing the undermining, have also been insidiously incubating and pushing their agendas throughout schools and education, which is why Jordan Peterson has set up an online university to enable independent and critical thinking free from hijacked public systems.

Peterson Academy

Education, devoid of ideology. Affordable to All, taught by the best.

NB: Just love the part at the end of the embedded video where he says, “I think it’s funny cause I got cancelled at the university, so I could try to return the favour.”

Contrary to what hijacked mass media, the current propaganda machine and the incited mass public hysteria may have led you to believe, unlike the current regime, who have been promoting censorship and pushing the world closer and closer to WW III and possible nuclear catastrophe, the previous president and current opposition party contender may not be quite so bad after all.

During his term in office, he signed numerous peace agreements and there were no wars (many believe he should have been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize). He created jobs, improved the economy, putting more money into people’s pockets, and he respected freedom of speech, not to mention he took a bullet for his country and stood resolute in the face of evil.

Understandable that his inflated personality may not serve him well with some, but again, it’s important to look at the end results and not the sensationalised fronts, incited public hysteria or mere words associated with the propaganda and manipulations of those who would have you believe otherwise.

In his current bid to return to office, he has also vowed to make sustained efforts to end ongoing wars, something the current regime and their behind the scenes controllers will never do because their culture is all about opposites, specifically deriving income from weapons sales and gaining more and more control to help satisfy their thirst for global dominance.

The previous president and current contender has also vowed to swiftly tackle the illegal drug smuggling crisis that is eating the country away from the inside.

Lots of unknowns, but I would be inclined to lend my support to whoever represents the people (possible outsider) and not the evil that lurks behind the scenes using politicians as mere puppets for ulterior, globalist and totalitarian agendas.

Someone with sound policies, e.g. environmental protection, public health, returning to healthy food production while addressing the chronic disease epidemic, ending child gender mutilations, improving education, regulating immigration (understanding that entry is a privilege and not a free pass), reviving the middleclass while closing the social divide, reducing crime (will likely happen naturally as society improves), ending wars, ending deep-state control, ending adverse industrial complex and pharmaceutical complex influences, ending the anti-democratic practice of election interference from data control conglomerates, etc.)

Regardless of any hijacked media portrayals, Robert F. Kennedy Jr. fulfils the above in spades – a genuine man with integrity and compassion; he promotes open dialogue, acceptance and respect, has encyclopaedic knowledge, and he is the only candidate willing to tackle the colossal Big Pharma issue head on, a major problem that effects every single one of us across all of humanity right to the very core.

After being ousted from the current regime, for wanting to protect the nation and stand up for what is right, they denied him security, that was until they were pressured by the previous president and current opposition party contender following the recent incident. Additionally, RFK has also been largely shut out of mainstream media with many other obstacles thrown in his path, including enforced censorship.

<https://www.facebook.com/watch/?v=1298158627732235>

Does this sound fair to you? Is this what you want for your nation?
Is this the kind of world that you want to live in?

He may not have a giggling, bubbling, fun-like personality or surface appeal, but as someone with extensive political and legal experience and credible results to his name, at the highest level against untoward cooperate elitists (a.k.a. Deep State), and as someone who holds the people's interests, the nation's interests and the world's best interests at heart, he would make a solid, dependable leader for the free world.

Just hope that more and more people can start to see through this current manufactured, public charade – a different face on the same hijacked party – a different face on the same beast!

Anybody think the last 4 years were bad enough?
Care to take another dance with the devil – the devil behind the scenes?

Like Elon has warned, in reference to a possible continuance under the same party, if you think the last 4 years were shit, “You Ain’t Seen Nothing Yet!”
As expected, hijacked media have since been making him out as a culprit (perfect scapegoat), when in fact the guy is an absolute hero, taking a stand for us all! Thank you Elon!

Einstein Quote: “The world will not be destroyed by those who do evil, but by those who watch them without doing anything.”

Ignore current trends and maintain present course at your own peril! The whole country is being undermined from the inside out. Clearly the nation's people aren't being duly represented, and clearly politicians aren't calling the shots. So, who are the people behind the scenes, and who is running the show exactly???

At any rate, may the truth come out across the board and may lots of light come to shine on it, only then can wise decisions be made.

How Narcissists Use DARVO to Escape Accountability

Source: Narcissistic Abuse Rehab
Manya Wakefield, May 1, 2020

Altering Reality and Rewriting the Narrative

Sometimes it can seem as if narcissists possess such extraordinary manipulation skills they appear to bend reality to their will.

This is made painfully clear when they inflict harm on someone and, astonishingly, escape accountability by flipping the script and blaming the person they've wronged.

Narcissists are expert at erasing the pain they cause from the narrative. They wipe their hands clean by projecting their malice, aggression and treachery onto the target.

The more malignant a narcissist is, the less of a conscience they have. This makes them able to blame the survivor with such ease and skill that, once the narcissist has spun their web of deception, the survivor appears to be the aggressor and the narcissist their hapless victim.

In many cases, survivors are left reeling as their abuser blithely revises the fact of their aggression, twisting the truth into a narrative that bears no semblance to what actually transpired.

This is because narcissists have mastered a tactical manoeuvre that effectively grooms individuals and, indeed, entire social groups by controlling their perception of events.

The name of this strategy is DARVO.

Who gets targeted for DARVO?

For DARVO to occur a power imbalance must exist. It is most effective when the abuser has more social capital than the survivor.

If the abuser is a member of a dominant group and the survivor is a member of a disenfranchised group, generally the survivor is less likely to be believed.

People who are likely candidates for DARVO are:

- Survivors who confront their abuser.
- Whistleblowers.
- Socially vulnerable individuals or groups.

What is the purpose of DARVO?

The DARVO tactic serves many purposes.

- DARVO is a smokescreen used by narcissists, psychopaths or other manipulators to conceal the truth of their behaviour.
- DARVO enables the narcissist, psychopath or other manipulator to control how others perceive the target and the conflict.
- DARVO often stuns the targeted person into confusion and silence.

Thus, the abuser is able to craft a scapegoat story which is used to cultivate biases against the target and rally bystanders to their cause.

“This occurs, for instance, when an actually guilty perpetrator assumes the role of ‘falsely accused’ and attacks the accuser’s credibility and blames the accuser of being the perpetrator of a false accusation,” explains Dr. Freyd.

In a DARVO climate, no amount of evidence will suffice as proof of the abuser’s transgressions. The target will not be believed within a social circle that has been groomed by a narcissist, psychopath or other manipulator. On the contrary, the target will be subjected to a terrifying campaign of victim-blaming by the group.

Once the abuser has successfully secured the bystanders’ support and conditioned them to perceive the survivor as the perpetrator, the clique collectively subjects the survivor to the merciless process of scapegoating.

If the survivor lives through it, they are usually driven into isolation and social death. Other outcomes can include homicide or death by self-annihilation. The narcissist, psychopath or manipulator’s endgame is the complete destruction of the target.

DARVO as a collective grooming tactic

The cognitive distortions created by DARVO cultivate an ecosystem of moral corruption. Members of the peer group are encouraged by the narcissist to engage in polarized or black and white thinking.

The group's empathy for the narcissist is weaponized and used to encourage negative biases about the recipient of the abuse. Narcissists, psychopaths and other manipulators do this in order to ensure that members of the dominant clique become indifferent and callous about the betrayal of the survivor.

The desensitization of the group opens the door to the objectification of the targeted individual and once this is accomplished every kind of violence becomes acceptable.

Examples of this can be seen in manifestations of anti-semitism, racism, sexism and homophobia.

Why do bystanders participate in collective betrayal?

According to Dr. Freyd betrayal blindness is a survival mechanism that arises "when awareness would threaten necessary relationships."

In other words, bystanders yield to betrayal blindness in the interest of looking out for themselves and to avoid the loss or pain they might risk if they sympathized with the target.

They assign more value to their relationship with the abuser, so it follows that it's in their best interest to empathize with the narcissist not with the survivor.

In fact, in many cases bystanders may stand to gain more social capital if they lend their support to the narcissist. So it is usually a combination of greed for gain and an instinct for self-preservation that eclipses any ethical or moral considerations in the bystander.

In other words, members of the clique adapt to conflict within the group by "turning a blind eye," to the harmful behaviours of the narcissist.
